

VOICES BOOK SERIES

Women Braving It All

Do you have a story to tell?

A story about your own personal heroine's journey that shaped the woman you are today?

A story with a message that you know would inspire others on their own journey?

A story of how you discovered more of your purpose through facing obstacles and stepping into your true self?

And the only thing holding you back is... you have no idea how to write it and lack the understanding of the craft of writing and how to apply it toward creating a great story?

Most people feel overwhelmed by how and where to begin, when to find the time to write, and how to put it all down on paper. Some common struggles have become extraordinarily clear over the years of my helping people write great books. These struggles are evident in the heart of every writer.

- Overwhelm: We don't even know where to get started with writing a book or even a piece of our story.
- Doubt: Do we really have something valuable to share?
- Self-Judgment: We feel that we are not a writer and don't know if we have what it takes to be one.
- Lack of Experience and Tools: We don't know how to process the emotions that come up when thinking about writing our story.

There are no accidents and you have landed on this page for a reason. I have created a path that will help you become a writer, owning your voice, and understanding the invaluable parts of your story. I help women move from fear to courage and from doubt to confidence in their writing and sharing of their story.

The VOICES Intuitive Writing Program Book Series is for you if...

Part III: Publishing of VOICES

By this phase, the editing process will have prepared your VOICES story inclusion in a professionally published and internationally distributed book. (Details on royalties, book sales, and publishing dates will be discussed in your contract agreement when signing up for this program.)

Becoming a published author is one of the fastest and most intimate of ways to build credibility, position yourself and your business, and most importantly gain the respect, value, and connection of your people.

The story of you finding your way to your purpose and the ups and downs that led to your triumphs, while witnessing the miracles of your work in action, will now be wrapped in a beautifully crafted gift to share with the world.

This project is for you if: (you're ready to step into your leadership more fully and...)

- You're ready to claim your authority
- You're ready to be seen as a thought leader
- You have been looking to get your message out
- You crave the empowerment and accomplishment of sharing your own story
- You desire to lead others with your gifts and purpose
- You understand the great value in investing in yourself when it's aligned
- You want to truly understand the power of learning to write in a way that connects
- You are wanting to build a platform and get more visible with what you do

If the thought of promoting a book overwhelms you, this is the perfect project to join— you won't be alone! There will be 12 powerful women alongside you...imagine the energy of every woman contributing her voice, resources and mission to get this book into the world!

Q&A

Do I have to be a writer already?

You don't have to be a writer to do this project, but must have a desire to learn to write. With my gifts, I will help you unearth your story.

Why Invest in The Intuitive Writing Retreat?

It's about Transformation not information.

- Get it done in a timely manner
- Write a well-Crafted powerful piece that will make an impact
- Become a part of the movement that begins at the retreat

How far into “living my purpose” do I have to be?

You don't have to be completely at the top of your game or fully living your purpose

- We will all be at different stages
- Your purpose might be motherhood, or being the CEO of your own company, it's about getting a message out that matters, not the credential of what you do
- You need to be in the experience and connected to what matters to you

Benefits in an All-Inclusive package that includes publishing?

- It's challenging to write your story, doing it with a one of a kind facilitator of the writing process is invaluable
- Hard to find good publishing. (This is an understatement, is very hard to find good publishing these days that includes, cover to cover excellence, and launch support
- Finding an All-Inclusive package that can help you get your message out, in well written form, professionally edited, and published with a team of women behind you is priceless!

I have 9 spots left for women who are aligned to this project. First, we will interview to discover if there is alignment for both of us.

If you have a larger book in you to write, this program can be a great stepping-stone to tell the fundamental story of your journey that “your people” will want to hear. You can hint at tidbits of the larger story to help them connect to your bigger book that is coming.

And if you're not planning to write a book, VOICES is a great opportunity to tell this invaluable piece of your story that will speak directly to your people and become known as someone who has blazed the trail forward in your area of interest or field of expertise.

Launching a book with a known author, a skilled and versed publisher, and a powerful group of women is priceless!

*I'm Chloe Rachel Gallaway, author of The Soulful Child: Twelve Years In The Wilderness, and Intuitive Writing Coach. Ten years ago I set out to tell the true story of my growing up in the wilderness and coming into the world at age twelve. I spent the last ten years overcoming many hurdles, including a difficult divorce with two small children in my arms and the loss of my father unexpectedly. I came to know myself as a warrior at one of the most challenging points in my life and understand what it means to be bold, take risks, and walk my own path. I became an author, which enabled me to fully own my voice, and then further fulfilled my calling in becoming a writing coach. Along this journey I have met many strong, brave, and spiritual women who are facing fear, taking risks, and making strides to walk their own road toward living their purpose. Many of them dream of writing a book, or telling a piece their story in a collection. However, they have not yet found a way to fulfill this dream in a practical and incredibly transformational manner. It has been a vision of mine for the past few years to capture the unique journey and voices of these incredible women, and help them to know the power in writing a connected, well-crafted story and becoming a published author.*
